

To Whom this may concern,

I am writing in behalf of docket number 98P-0150/CP1 , to prohibit the slaughter of downed animals.

Animals who are too sick or injured even to stand should not be allowed to enter the human food chain.

In addition to posing an increased risk for bacterial contamination, there is evidence that some downed animals may be afflicted with a form of BSE ( Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy or " Mad Cow Disease"), a disease which has been linked to a fatal human illness (CJD or Creutzfeldt-Jakob Disease).

It is impossible to move downed animals humanely, and they are typically pushed with tractors or dragged with chains--inhumane processes which cause injuries ranging from bruises and abrasions, to broken bones and torn ligaments.

Downed animals comprise a very small percentage of animals slaughtered, and prohibiting their marketing will cause no undue economic hardship. Industry experts have estimated that 90% percent of downed animals can be prevented with better care and handling. Removing the market for downed animals will provide an incentive to industry to prevent downed animals in the first place.

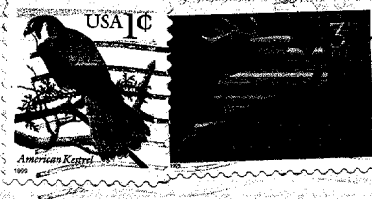

It is of my concern, that these animals are treated kindly, not with brutality. The question has to be asked, " don't they have feelings ? " What makes any human think these animals don't feel pain ? Are their cries of agony falling on deaf ears ? Or has our human empathy become barbarous?

All it takes is people who care. Someone to listen . I am hoping that all of this is changed thru the Food and Drug Administration because if you people don't care.....then who does ? Thank you.

Sincerely, Mrs. Donna Fontaine
1661 Westover Road
Chicopee, Ma. 01020

7A 4

Donald Fontaine
1661 Westover Rd.
Chicopee, MA 01020

U. S. Food and Drug Administration
Docket Management Branch
5630 Fishers Lane Room 1061
Rockville, Md. 20852